Cut sections you don't need out of your video Change frame size, rotate, and flip videos captured with a phone Video Gallery Advanced 4.9 user ratings Would the WP7/8 Media Library support a share to social network (Facebook/Twitter/Linkedin) for videos? I have all my personal videos in a share-able playlist and would like to be able to share videos from the Media Library (on my WP7/8 device) to various social networks at the same time. I am not aware of any existing functionality that does this. Community Answers Thanks for your question. While it seems that the Windows Phone Media Library lacks a mechanism to share videos out of the box it's definitely possible to implement something. However, I don't think this has been completely planned by Microsoft since the Media Library has the ability to play videos directly from the library and generally speaking it's easier to play an audio or a photo out of the app's media library than it is to directly share it. A good way to do it is to add media from the music library to your collection, add videos from the library to your collection, then share the collection and set the share target to a social network. If you want to skip the music library and go directly to the videos you can add an entry to your phone's favorites that lists the shares. That way the videos are always at the top of your phone's favorites and easy to share. From what I have read, the Windows Phone Media Library doesn't natively support smart playlists for videos so your best bet is to create them outside of the library. To share videos out of the library, you need to use the actual Media Library application. The mechanism is pretty simple, you create an instance of the MediaLibrary, open an item that points to a video file, then call the ShareTarget method that is shown here. The method accepts the URL of the file that was opened and a string that defines what type of share (post, link or tweet) is desired. Thanks for the information. You are right in saying that I can share media from the Media Library but would rather not have to add them to the music library. Thanks for the pointers. Here is my quick implementation: Source: - In the initial C# code, I use MediaToolkit.NET and WP7Tasks.NET to add videos to the collection. - In the ShareTarget method,
